Hello,

I'd like to make a few things clear:

1. Thank you for acknowledging the the disrespect from the drivers that I have been getting. I do appreciate that members of the support team do acknowledge this kind of behavior.
2. I'm not requesting a refund of everything because I didn't have a pass on that specific incident, I'm requesting a refund for the disrespect I've received. If I myself, an autistic student, cannot travel safely with respect (whether I have a way of payment or not - which is very rare that I do not since use the 492 operated by Arriva London via my Oyster card), why should I let the organization keep my money? (Fastrack being the organization in question).

Good morning,

Many thanks for your email. I was sorry to read that you feel you have been disrespected by our drivers, for which I sincerely apologise.

We train our drivers to the highest standards of customer service and to ensure our buses are accessible for all passengers. Please do report any future incidents involving drivers to us, and we will refer the matter to their senior managers for investigation.

In regard to travelling without a bus pass, you would be required to pay for travel until your new bus pass arrives from your local council, as we are unable to offer free travel without a valid concessionary bus pass being presented. I would not be able to consider any refunds for travel undertaken without a valid bus pass being presented to the driver.

I apologise for any frustration caused. If there is anything else I can help with, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Kind Regards
