 Fastrack - Faulty Payments and Money Hungry Drivers _ Thomas Hall.pdf (~61 KB)

Hello,

Thank you for response. Before I start, DO NOT expect me to use your services again outside of free events. If you did have somewhat of a heart for passengers, you would at least compensate them for the unprofessionalism towards your passengers, but you have FAILED in doing that, essentially proving my point further that money is your division's prime directive. I also request any account I have open with you (under the name "Thomas Hall") be terminated with immediate effect - I do not want you to hold my information after this incident and no further plans to support Fastrack financially anymore.

Outside of that, I have created a writeup on my website of both this incident and another incident regarding your faulty payment over on my website. You can find this writeup attached as a PDF document file in this email. Alternatively, you can read the live version of this on <https://ptb.lumanesence.co.uk/fastrack>

Absolute joke.

Good Afternoon,

Thank you for your response.

We would not be able to offer a refund of fares in regards to driver rudeness. We can however look to investigate any incidents where a driver has been rude to ensure the appropriate action is taken in line with our company policies to help reduce the chance of this happening again.

For any incidents you would like us to investigate, please provide the following information:

- What incident has occurred; details on how the driver was rude and what they had said
- The bus stop you boarded
- The scheduled time of the bus
- The route number/letter of the service
- The direction of travel.

I hope this information helps and if you have any questions, please let me know.

Kind Regards

Dean | Customer Service Advisor
